A. Introduction and Purpose

Summary: This handbook explains how ExampleCorp works, what the company expects from employees, and what employees can expect in return.[source:

Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.1]

It is a practical guide, not a contract, and may be updated as the company evolves; always refer to the latest version on the intranet.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.2]

A.1 Applicability

- This handbook applies to all ExampleCorp employees globally, including full-time, part-time, and fixed-term employees, unless otherwise specified in local appendices.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.3]
- Certain policies may differ by country or region due to local laws; where there is a conflict, local law and local addenda take precedence.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.4]
- Contractors, consultants, and agency workers are expected to follow relevant conduct, security, and safety policies but may be governed by separate agreements.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.5]

A.2 Purpose of the Handbook

- Provide a clear overview of ExampleCorp's expectations, policies, and procedures across the employment lifecycle.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.6]
- Promote a safe, respectful, inclusive, and productive work environment.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.7]
- Help employees understand where to go for support, information, and escalation.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.8]

A.3 Non-Contractual Nature and Changes (Consult Legal)

- This handbook is not an employment contract and does not guarantee employment for any specific duration; employment terms may be at-will or defined by local law.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.9]
- ExampleCorp may modify, suspend, or discontinue policies at its discretion, subject to legal requirements and consultation obligations where applicable.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.10]

- Where legal precision is required (e.g., employment status, collective agreements), Consult Legal for official guidance. [source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.11]

A.4 Contact Role

- Primary contact for questions about this handbook: HR (local HR Business Partner or regional HR support). [source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Introduction and Purpose | clause: 1.12]

B. Employment Basics

Summary: This section explains employment types, probation, and working hours, including flexibility and remote work norms for a multinational workforce. [source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.1]

B.1 Employment Types

- Full-time employees typically work the standard weekly hours defined for their country (e.g., 40 hours per week), are eligible for core benefits, and follow ExampleCorp's standard policies. [source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.2]
- Part-time employees work fewer than standard weekly hours, may have pro-rated pay and benefits, and follow the same conduct and safety standards as full-time staff. [source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.3]
- Fixed-term employees are hired for a defined period or project and may have benefits tailored to the contract and local laws. [source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.4]
- Contractors/consultants engaged through third parties are governed by their contracts but must comply with ExampleCorp's security, confidentiality, and conduct requirements while on assignment. [source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.5]

B.2 Probation Policy

- New employees generally serve a probation period of 3–6 months, defined in the offer letter and aligned with local law. [source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.6]
- During probation, managers assess performance, role fit, behavior, and adherence to company values. [source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.7]

- Probation outcomes may include confirmation, extension (where legally permitted), or termination with notice in line with local law.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.8]

Probation Review Procedure:

1. Manager sets clear expectations and goals within the first month of employment.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.9]
2. Mid-probation check-in to review progress, give feedback, and document any concerns.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.10]
3. Final review before probation end date to decide on confirmation, extension (if applicable), or termination.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.11]
4. HR documents the outcome and shares written confirmation with the employee.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.12]

Exceptions:

- Some roles or jurisdictions may have different probation lengths or no probation due to local regulation or collective agreements.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.13]
- Any deviation from standard probation must be approved by HR and, where necessary, Legal.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.14]

B.3 Working Hours, Flexibility, and Remote Work

- Standard working hours are defined by local policy (e.g., 9:00–18:00 with a 1-hour unpaid break), subject to business needs and legal limits.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.15]
- ExampleCorp supports flexible work arrangements where operationally feasible, such as flexible start/end times or compressed work weeks.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.16]
- Remote or hybrid work may be available by role and location, subject to manager approval, information security, and equipment requirements.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.17]

Working Time Procedure:

1. Employees agree working patterns with their manager in line with local policy.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.18]
2. Time must be recorded in the approved system (e.g., time tracking or HRIS) where required.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.19]
3. Overtime must be pre-approved and will be compensated or time-off-in-lieu per local law and policy.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.20]

Contact Role: HR for policy questions; Line Manager for day-to-day scheduling.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Employment Basics | clause: 2.21]

C. Leave and Time Off

Summary: This section covers leave types, accrual rules, carryover, and how to request and approve time off using ExampleCorp's systems.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.1]

C.1 Types of Leave

- Annual leave (paid vacation): Employees accrue paid annual leave based on local policy and length of service (e.g., 18–24 days per year, prorated for part-year service).[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.2]
- Sick leave: Employees may take sick leave in line with local law and policy; medical certificates may be required after a specified number of days.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.3]
- Parental leave: Maternity, paternity, adoption, and parental leave entitlements follow local legislation and any enhanced company benefits.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.4]
- Bereavement leave: Paid or unpaid leave may be granted following the death of an immediate family member, as defined in local policy.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.5]
- Unpaid leave: Additional unpaid leave may be granted at management and HR discretion, subject to business needs and local law.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.6]

C.2 Accrual and Carryover

- Annual leave generally accrues monthly over the calendar or fiscal year, as defined locally.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.7]
- Carryover of unused leave is limited and may be capped (e.g., up to 5 days) or subject to “use-it-or-lose-it” rules where legally allowed.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.8]
- Accrued but unused leave at termination will be handled according to local law and policy.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.9]

C.3 Leave Request Procedure

1. Check balance: Employee reviews leave balance in the HR system or with HR.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.10]
2. Submit request: Employee submits a leave request through the designated tool (e.g., HRIS or time-off portal) with dates and type of leave.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.11]
3. Manager review: Manager reviews the request considering workload, team coverage, and any blackout periods.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.12]
4. Approval/denial: Manager approves or declines; the system notifies the employee and updates calendars where integrated.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.13]
5. Recordkeeping: HR and payroll use the system records to manage balances and, where applicable, pay adjustments.[source: Employee_Handbook_v2026 | section: Leave and Time Off | clause: 3.14]
